cool com-pass-ion what's the use of ed - u - cat - ed fools?

There's a Man on the mountain and he's talking to the crowd.
 He says the poor are happy, he says things that aren't allowed
 He says that being hungry beats power, wealth and fame.
 He says if someone kicks you, let him kick you once again.
 He's paying no attention to our customs and our laws.
 I think that we can take him in. I think we have the cause.
 I think he's filling up their heads with his subversive lies.
 I think it's time we brought him down and cut him down to size

*What's he saying now? He says he loves his people.
 What's he saying now? He's breaking all the rules.
 What's he saying now? He'll confuse them and he'll lose them.
 With his big ideas and cool compassion. What's the use of educated fools?*

He says that those in power will lose what they have earned.
 The quiet man will win the day. He clearly hasn't learned
 That those who makes the rules can use the power of the law.
 We're making notes, so we can tell all that we heard and saw.
 He says that being hated is the way you want to be.
 The things The man is saying sound dangerous to me.
 He's stirring up the common people, filling up their heads
 Maybe they'll rise against us all and kill us in our beds.

He's saying that the merciful will win a rich reward.
 He says a pure and peaceful heart is better than a sword.
 Love the ones that hate you. Never push and shove.
 Give away the things you own. Ignore the ones you love.
 He says that being sad will make you happy. He's insane.
 He says that being persecuted makes you feel the same.
 He says he knows the law but there's a better way to be.
 It sounds like anarchy and revolution to me.

I think the time has come when we should take the Man away.
 We've got the evidence we need, he's surely had his day.
 Political sedition and blasphemy as well.
 He's surely for the jail and then he's surely going to hell!
 We'll set him up, we'll bring him down, we'll put him to an end.
 We'll lay the blame on someone that's supposed to be his friend.
 We'll use the law, we'll make it fair for everyone to see.
 So that no-one ever points at you or ever points at me.
